Training was given by Ms. T. Sravanthi III B.Sc Horticulture student . She make Major botany and horticulture student's learnt various types of bouquet preparations with different kinds of flowers .

Students learnt Hand-tied bouquets. Hand-tied flower bouquets are one of the most popular types that suit any event and other types like The posy bouquet , Biedermeier bouquet, Cascade/waterfall bouquet, Composite bouquet, Presentation bouquet, Nosegay bouquet, Pomander bouquet etc.

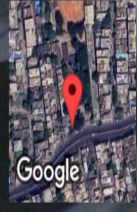

Hand-tied flower bouquets are one of the most popular types that suit any event. Just as the name suggests, this bouquet features a bundle of flowers that are tied together using material like string, wire, ribbon or any other piece of fabric. They have a very laid-back, casual look about them which many people prefer.

Posy bouquets are Classic and timeless, ideal for those who like a simple, understated style. This bouquet features plump, round flowers on short stems that are wrapped together tightly with ribbon for a full but compact look. Posy bouquets are super easy to hold and carry as they're lightweight and often small too - making them especially popular for weddings. Many different flowers can be used for posy bouquets including everyone's favourite, peonies, classic roses and pretty gerbera daises.

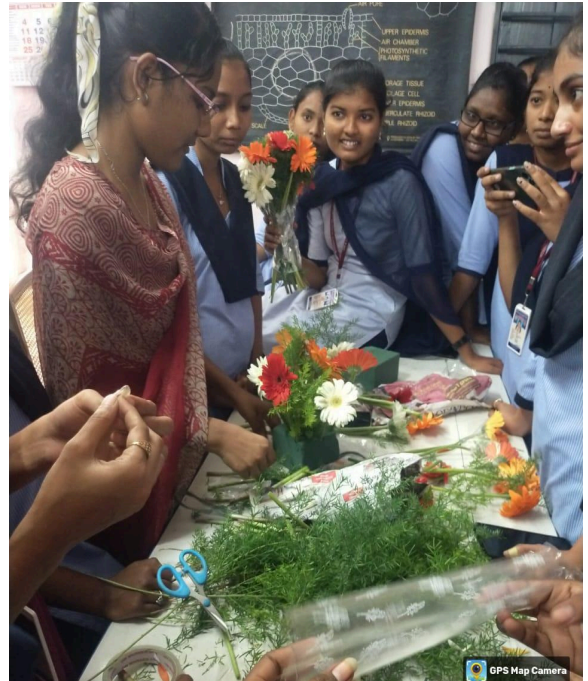

Biedermeier bouquet is usually tightly wrapped and arranged in a circular pattern with different coloured flowers to draw attention. It's perfect for anyone who likes to make a statement. Usually, orchids, dahlias, roses and tulips are used for this type of bouquet, which is then surrounded by vibrant green foliage and textured ferns.

Cascading or waterfall bouquets are the epitome of elegance. They include beautiful, bold flowers, like roses, lilies, dahlias and even hyacinths, long, trailing vines and draping leaves for a truly stunning bouquet. Foams, wires and ribbons are also all used to keep everything in place. This type of bouquet can feel heavy.

The composite flower bouquet is a unique and modern style that may look simple, but it's actually very intricate. Also known as the carmen rose bouquet, this style is made up of hundreds of individual petals, which are wired together to look like one huge flower. The petals can be collected from any type of flower.

Presentation bouquets were wildly popular. Designed to be cradled in the arms, this bouquet uses long-stemmed flowers, calla lilies and roses, as well as delphiniums, roses and a bunch of bright and beautiful tropical flowers too.

The nosegay bouquet is usually quite small and features a few larger, focal flowers, which are then surrounded by filler flowers and framed with greenery. It's then tied tightly with a ribbon to make it easier to hold. Neat, compact and simple to look at, this bouquet is similar to the posy, except more emphasis is on the greenery.

Pomander bouquet, essentially a ball of flowers, this bouquet is great for decorating a room or hanging from trees for a garden party as it's usually suspended using some ribbon or string. Roses, sunflowers, carnations and gerbera daisies are popular flower choices for this type of bouquet. To embellish it even more can use jewels and gems to make it sparkle and look even more glamorous.

Rustic and charming, basket bouquets are probably the easiest type to hold without fear of damaging the flowers. This type of bouquet features a bunch of beautiful blooms arranged carefully in a cute wicker basket.

Students trained for learning all types of bouquets in a professional manner . Since two years bouquet preparation is under practice and Department of Botany is offering bouquets for all the events of the Institute for 2 years .

Students are now able to be thorough and pay attention to detail , have the ability to work well with their hands , have the ability to work well with others , customer service skills, excellent verbal communication skills, the ability to come up with new ways of doing things, and the ability to work on their own.

Flowers can play a major role in our memories, whether they are used for special events or everyday situations. A skilful florist can capture their beauty in an arrangement but floristry is more than that: it requires specialist knowledge of how to care for, handle and trade flowers properly. This free skill development training on floristry covers all of a florist's responsibilities that can make them the best florists.

Department of Botany B.Sc B.Z.C and B.Sc Horticulture students of SRR & CVR Govt Degree College (A), participated in this program initiated and guided by Ms G.Swapna , Incharge Dept of Botany .

Objectives of the Activity:

- ❖ Awareness and training on Herbal Cosmetics
- ❖ Training on Dry Flower technology
- ❖ Awareness and training on Traditional Craft forms preparation
- ❖ Skill development regarding Value added Herbal Products
- ❖ Entrepreneurship - Earning along with Learning

B.Sc Horticulture student Ms . Sravanthi synthesized all the below herbal cosmetic products

The above Herbal cosmetics prepared by Ms. Sravanthi B.Sc Horticulture student contains phytochemicals derived from various botanical sources to address nutrient deficiencies and improve human appearance. Herbal cosmetics are the safest and most effective. They are generally hypo-allergenic which means that they do not cause any type of skin allergies as caused by other harmful products. The chemical cosmetics are not safe because they contain synthetic cosmetics which can cause certain allergic reactions. Nature has offered us various herbs. An herb is a plant or plant extract, including leaves, bark, berries, roots, gums, seeds, stems, flowers & fruits which work as nourishing and healing elements. Herbal cosmetics have gained much popularity among the population. Herbal cosmetic products claim to have efficacy and intrinsic acceptability due to routine use in daily life and avoid the adverse effects which are commonly seen in synthetic products which are made of chemicals and other toxic ingredients.

Ms Sravanthi given training to other students and explained the ingredients and procedure of preparation of Lip balm, Moisturizer, Face cream , Face Lotions , Kajal , Face mask etc

B.Sc Horticulture student P.D.N Chandini Potpourri Value added Products

Potpourri is a mixture of dried ingredients, spices, and oils that scent a room. It was made by a horticulture student . They have many different types of ingredients and give off distinct fragrances and moods. Need choose your dry ingredients, pair them with essential oils, and let potpourri sit for a few weeks to make the surroundings smell great . Students learnt to prepare them and acquired the skills.

Rose oil, cinnamon oil, lemon oil, orange oil, honeysuckle oil, and bayberry oil are all great choices for potpourri.

Gather petals, cloves, and orange peels to create a spicy potpourri.To dry your ingredients faster, place them in direct sunlight.Put your dry ingredients into an airtight container.

Add 2 drops of essential oils to your dry ingredients. Seal the container and allow it to sit for up to 6 weeksDisplay your potpourri in a bowl or open jar.

Students learnt all the process of making potpourri even with dry flowers also

VALUE ADDED PRODUCTS USING COCONUT SHELLS (PLANT PRODUCTS) DONE BY T. LAVANYA II B.Sc HORTICULTURE STUDENTS

Students Prepared value-added products like Flower vases Flower pots and several decorative items using Plant parts like coconut shells, dried flowers , and branches as a part of skill development .

People usually throw away tender coconut shells after drinking the water. Instead students cut the shells in half and make quirky planters for the garden. That can even replace the soil with coco peat or husk.

Coconut Shell crafts is a traditional craft form in various parts of India. Coconut shell, being hard and durable is used as a raw material for handicrafts. Coconut craft is one of the most sustainable craft, which has almost zero wastage of materials, almost all the materials derived from it can be used as something or the other.

Students made these traditional craft forms and they beautifully expired the process of various varieties of craft forms

FLOWER POTS DONE BY K.SRILAXMI & II B.Sc HORTICULTURE STUDENTS

Students chose acrylic or spray paint. PVC glue to prepare the surface of the pot for painting. Degrease the surface of the pot with cotton. Pots were spray-painted on the floor to reduce the risk of inhaling fumes.

Flowers planted in designer flower pots are an absolute delight in any house. They bring a lot of positive energy to space and also good visual aesthetics. Plants and flowers bring a lot of positive energy to space and purify the circulating air. To add to this effect, students learnt to recycle dull-looking pots and planters with creative and latest flower pot designs.

Students prepared several Designer pots for plants and kept them in the terrace garden. They used various materials of pots with different designs and paints

Students learnt, practiced and trained in the preparation of value added products, Dry flower products, cut flower products, Processed products, Herbal cosmetics and explored even a little in Entrepreneurship with the products they synthesized. All these activities made the students confident and enthusiastic.
